I had an interesting, and fun installation recently when the owner of PAWS-A-WHILE, a dog grooming salon in Manhattan Beach contacted me for advice on their water heater. Problem was, they were washing over 30 dogs a day and the towels needed to dry these pampered pooches also had to be washed, and the existing 50 gallon storage tank heater was running out: Inconvenient to say the least, and a constraint which would limit them in taking additional 'customers'. Further, space in the salon was at a premium, and the option of leaving the existing tank and installing a second wasn't on. My recommendation?.....I didn't even have to 'paws to think'.... an Eternal GU32 of course, the ideal solution.
